

HORRIBLE CRIME OF DEGENERATE FATHER.

John Etly Arrested for the Murder of His Wife.

His Daughter, Anna, Makes Complete Confession Telling Blood Curdling Story—Butcher Knife Was Weapon Used.

One week ago last Wednesday night Louisville was the scene of the most brutal and mysterious murder, which has come to light in our State for many a day. While asleep in bed with her babe and four year old boy, Mrs. John Etly had her throat cut from ear to ear, and died in a few moments, without being able to give any clue to her assailant. A fourteen year old girl was asleep on a bed in the same room, and her husband and another girl, seven years old, occupied the adjoining room. The entire police and detective forces of the city have worked incessantly on the case, which seemed, for a time, to baffle all human agencies so completely that the murderer hovered his tracks.

Etly stood the ordeal of severe and rigid examination, and his grief seemed real beyond question. The little daughter, Anna, who slept in the same room with her mother, and who it seemed might throw some light on the strange tragedy, where no motive could be found, disclaimed any knowledge of the murderer's offer parent, and told the same story repeatedly. She exonerated her father completely. At the funeral, and at the grave John Etly manifested, seemingly, the most genuine grief.

The fact that Etly was partly dressed, when he notified his neighbors of a water bucket with blood in it, gave the police the first clue, and pointed to some one in the house as the guilty one. It was thought best to take the little girl from under the influence of her father. This was done in the belief that she had not told all she knew about the horrible affair. Mrs. Hayman, the jail matron took charge of the little girl Monday evening, and kept her in seclusion, treating her with the greatest kindness. Wednesday she sent for Chief Gunther, and in the presence of Judge Wilson, Mrs. Hayman, and the detectives she told the following revolting story:

"I was lying on my couch with cover almost up to my eyes. I wasn't asleep, and saw my papa come through the room and go to the kitchen. He came back with the things in his hand and went to mother's bed. He looked like he was going to love mother."

"He took hold by the knot of mother's hair and struck her twice. The first time he struck mother, she closed here yes, oh, so hard. Then he took the knife in his hand and drew it across her throat. Papa then went back into the kitchen, and I guess he wiped the knife off on one of mamma's aprons. He left the apron in the floor and put the knife back, I guess."

"When papa came through the room again he said if I said anything about what happened he would do me in the same way. He would injure me."

"My mother was gasping and my little brother was on the floor crying so I jumped up. I went to the door of papa's room and called to him."

"He was dressed like he was when he passed the kitchen, except that he wore a gauze undershirt when he came out again after I called him he had on a thick undershirt. I took the baby from under mother and went out to the kitchen to wipe the blood from its face. I used the apron father had used in the water bucket. It came out bloody and I think there was blood in the bucket before I used it."

The girl thinks that when her father went to the kitchen he took off his shoes and then went around the side of the house and placed the panel of fence against the front of the house. He took off his shoes so that the neighbors would not hear him, the girl thinks."

Etly was arrested at the home of his sister, Mrs. Edward C. Hall, on Randall Avenue, and lodged in jail charged with murder. His little girl repeated her story in his presence, saying, "you know, papa, that is the truth. You know I saw you kill mamma."

GOOD-EYE MR. QUAIL.

Our Local Sportsmen Made Some Good Bags Yesterday.

The quail season began yesterday in Kentucky. For weeks the local sports have been training dogs, oiling old rusty guns and looking carefully after the latest improved, smokeless, chilled shot loaded shells. If reports are to be credited, the quail was never so plentiful in this country, and the hunter who stakes his reputation, will not have the usual excuse to offer his friends for poor luck. Before the week ends there will be a great slaughter of the innocents, if the weather is favorable.

A large number of the farmers have posted their land against hunters, and unless they take the precaution to obtain permission, some of our hunters may find trouble along with the birds.

College Notes.

The Board of Education has decided to give the Friday following Thanksgiving Day as a holiday.

The Adelphi held a very interesting meeting last Friday evening, although all the members were not present. At this meeting Messrs. Andrew Glermix and Leslie Shultz were admitted as new members.

All students of the seventh, eighth and ninth grades will take up the study of Mental Arithmetic next week. This is a study that has never been taught here. Prof. Gray says this is the only true way to get Arithmetic, aside from the "old machine way."

Report cards were handed out yesterday.

Students who led their classes under Prof. Gray for the first quarter, were: In zoology, J. W. Marks, Pearl Thomas, Ross Bennett. They all made 97 per cent.; in arithmetic, Irene Miller, 98 per cent; in geology, Ross Bennett, 85 per cent; in algebra, Roy Bennett and Raymer Tinsley, 95 per cent. each; in physical geography, Sadie Henry, 97 per cent; in moral philosophy, Mary Keown, 93 per cent; in spelling, Etta Myrl Taylor, 97 per cent.

The remainder of the leaders will be given next week. The teachers say that all students have done exceedingly well for this quarter.

CABINET CHANGES.

Many New Faces to be Seen After January 1st.

President Sets a New Precedent in Going to Panama During Term.

BIG REFUND TO TREASURY.

(Special to THE REPUBLICAN.)
Washington, D. C., Nov. 10.—There has been such a shake up in both Cabinet and Diplomatic circles in the past few weeks, that when society reassembles for the winter season, it will be almost impossible to know "where it is at" or to recognize Washington in view of all of the changes that have been made. The Cabinet changes that were stated from the White House a week or more ago have now been succeeded by the announcement that Secretary Hitchcock will retire, Attorney General Moody will be given a place on the Supreme Bench vice-Associate Justice Brown, and that "Jimmy" Garfield will enter the Cabinet as the Secretary of the Interior.

In addition to this, Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, the British Ambassador, will retire. His successor has not yet been named, but during the interim a new Counselor of Embassy will be appointed in the person of E. W. Howard, until recently British Consul General at Crete. The chances are that the British Ambassador will be succeeded by Lord Curzon, whose wife, Miss Mary Leiter, of Washington, died only a few weeks ago.

President Roosevelt's departure for Panama marks the first occasion on which a President of the United States has gone off our mainland during his term of office. Technically Panama is not out side of the United States, but the President will leave the shelter of the American flag during one portion of his trip when he dines with the President of the Republic of Panama. He is now on his way to the Canal Zone aboard the battleship Louisiana. Sae is conveyed by the cruisers Tennessee and Washington, who will remain in her company during the whole of the sea trip. The party go south through the Old Panama Passage, between Hayti and Cuba, arriving at Colon, on the North side of the Isthmus, November 15th. They will spend three days inspecting the Canal Zone, and leaving there on the 18th, will return to the United States by way of Porto Rico, stopping for a look at San Juan. They will leave there on November 23rd, and are due back in Washington on the 27th. Every arrangement has been made on board the Louisiana for the President's personal comfort and the battleship will be in wireless communication with some one of the American wireless stations during the whole of her cruise. These messages will be relayed to Washington so that the President will be kept constantly in touch with the White House. Secretary Root will act for him in official capacity while he is gone.

One the most remarkable refunds that has ever been made to the United States Treasury came in the Shape of a check this week from Representative Pollard, of Nebraska, who was made an ad interim appointee to Congress and who has just been re-elected. He was given a salary check for $1,861.61, a time when he had not been serving and as some question had been raised during his campaign for re-election over his right to this money he promptly turned it in to the Treasury and thereby secured at least $100,000 worth of advertising at the expense of $1,861.61 worth of salary. The joke of it is that now the Government has received the money back, it does not know what to do with it because the action is entirely unprecedented, and there is a question as to what fund it should be deposited.

Raiders Burn One and Dynamite Another.

Princeton, Ky., Nov. 12.—Officers of this city were notified that the large tobacco factory of Rice Brothers at Kelsey, Caldwell county, had been burned last night. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. The building was situated on the north side of the Evansville division of the Illinois Central railroad and east of the depot. The fire was discovered on the first floor about 12:30 o'clock. The flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the entire building which was destroyed.

BRIDGE CONTRACTS.

Eight Bidders Contest for Ohio County Work --- Champion Bridge Co. Successful.

Bids were opened at the office of County Judge Taylor last Monday, by the County Commissioners, for the construction of an iron bridge across Adams Fork Creek above Dundee, 85 feet long, and one over Haney Creek below Hefflin, 45 feet long. There were eight bids returned, representing almost all the bridge construction companies in the United States. The bids were put in sealed, and opened in public. The Champion Bridge Co., of Ohio, was successful in each award. The job at Haney Creek was sub-let to the Eigenman Construction Co., of Owensboro. The bridge at Adams Fork will cost the county $1,700, and the one at Haney Creek $800.

Lodge Notes.

Rough River Lodge K. of P's, had work in the first rank Tuesday night and will have work in the first and second ranks next Tuesday evening. The members are urged to attend and make the work a success. Some time during the game season a quail supply will be given, to which the ladies will be invited.

The members of the Masonic Blue Lodge are beginning to revive the talk of a new hall, which all agree is badly needed.

Key Stone Chapter No. 110 meets Saturday night in regular convention. A number of applications are to be voted upon, and a full meeting is desired. The Chapter is preparing to do good work this winter. W. N. Stevens is the High Priest and French Vickers the accomplished Secretary.

The Local Maccabee Lodge has initiated a candidate at each meeting for the last two weeks. This lodge is in a healthy condition, and doing good work. R. H. Gillespie is Commander and D. E. Thomas Record Keeper. Another turkey supper will be a feature in the near future.

The local Hive Ladies of Maccabees, under the leadership of Mrs. Z. Wayne Griffin, Commander, is in a thriving condition. They have initiated five or six new members in the last six weeks. After the regular meeting, last Friday evening. The members were entertained at an elegant luncheon given by Mrs. Ernest Brkhead and Mrs. Hooker Williams. This lodge meets every two weeks. Miss Sue Yeiser is Keeper of Records.

Return Thanks.

We take this method of thanking the people of Hartford for the kindness and sympathy shown to us during our sad bereavement—the death of our boy, so far from home. Also to thank those at the scene of the tragedy for their prompt and kind ministrations. May heaven's choicest blessings be on all, and may they never be called upon to bear such a sorrow as ours.

Great Excitement Prevails and a Close Search is Being Made to Find the Guilty.

Princeton, Ky., Nov. 12.—Officers of this city were notified that the large tobacco factory of Rice Brothers at Kelsey, Caldwell county, had been burned last night. The fire is supposed to be of incendiary origin. The building was situated on the north side of the Evansville division of the Illinois Central railroad and east of the depot. The fire was discovered on the first floor about 12:30 o'clock. The flames spread rapidly and soon enveloped the entire building which was destroyed.

Shortly after the fire was discovered and under headway an explosion occurred on the inside of the building.

Late this afternoon Ed Rice, of the firm of Rice Brothers, said, over the telephone that two men were seen shortly after the fire riding at a rapid gait a short distance from Kelsey on the Eddyville road and headed toward Eddyville.

Following the report of the destruction of Rice Brothers' factory at Kelsey came the report that the large tobacco factory in Eddyville, belonging to the Baptist Seminary of Louisville, was dynamited at 2 o'clock this morning by unknown persons. Several unexploded sticks of the dynamite were found under the building. The office and private rooms and all of the north and west ends of the building were blown into fragments and the property damaged about two or three thousand dollars.

The persons who blew up the Eddyville factory were traveling on horse-back and came to town and left on the pike leading to Princeton. A piece of paper, taken from around a lunch, which came from a store in Princeton, was found, and some of the raiders were heard on the Lamasco road an hour after the explosion.

Great excitement prevails among all classes and every effort will be put forth by the authorities here to hunt down the guilty parties.

A close watch will be kept up by the owners of tobacco factories in this section for suspicious characters.

The destruction of Rice Brothers' factory will amount to a loss of about $16,000 with $9,000 insurance. Ed Rice also lost several hundred dollars worth of new furniture which had been stored in the factory until his residence, now undergoing improvements, was completed. The John-Orr factory, of this city, is being strongly guarded.

TOBACCO SITUATION

Weed Scarce and Ought to Sell For Good Prices.

Twenty Per Cent. Shortage in Crop of the Black Patch, as Compared With 1905.

(Clarksville Local Chronicle.)

The Government officials have been figuring on the world's tobacco supply, demand, etc. They find that the 1904 crop was 660,000,000 pounds. The 1905 crop was 633,000,000 pounds making the supply of these crops nearly 400,000,000 pounds short of the supply of the two previous years 1902 and 1903. The Kentucky commissioner of agriculture figures that the crops of the Black patch of this year—1906—is 20 per cent short of the 1905 crop.

Tobacco is evidently scarce and ought to sell for a good price. Japan has turned her attention to the tobacco of this country and comes in as a new consumer. According to reports Japan has already bought the entire crop of North Carolina and this is something to figure on. It is contended and argued from the stump by every spell-binder that it costs the farmers of this district 6 cents per pound to produce tobacco. This must be true, as tobacco growers are behind with their business, and farm lands declining in fertility. Already 800 mortgages have been taken out in the county for advances on tobacco and the prospect is that this number of mortgages will increase to 2,000 before the first of January. This and similar conditions apparently exists in all our tobacco growing counties, and it is evident that the farmers are not making any profit on tobacco or else they are managing very badly and ought to change their methods to diversified farming, as we have advised. Raise more peas, sheep, hogs and poultry. Have farmers been receiving cost of production for tobacco? They organized two years ago that they might co-operate and concentrate their tobacco and demand and force higher prices.

The result has been a change in this policy; scattered markets, secret selling, trying to force all tobacco at all points to sell at one and the same graded price. This policy has served the pin-hookers and the speculators well. Now, it is ascertained that the crop of 1904, after paying all expenses, sale, etc., brought a net average to the farmers of $5.85 per hundred. The crop of 1905 sold this year brought an average of $6. The 1906 crop now in the barns, considering the conditions of the general market, supply and demand should easily net the farmers an average of $8.00 per hundred, selling from six to fifteen cents.

Where there is concentration, there will be competition on open sales, and the competition fixes the value of tobacco according to the supply and demand, the farmers having no other way of ascertaining the value of tobacco. It has always been so, and always will be so, and farmers can only waste their time and means by following a will-o-the-wisp.

Farmers, by organization, standing on high grounds and by principle, looking to co-operation and concentration forcing the market to its highest notch by drawing competition may greatly benefit their situation. But to reach the highest state of excellence, they must pay attention to diversified farming, regulating the tobacco production, and improving the land. These matters should be subjects of discussion in meeting.

Tons of Eels Captured.

Habit-forming Medicines.

Whatever may be the fact as to many of the so-called patent medicines containing injurious ingredients as broadly published in some journals of more or less influence, this publicity has certainly been of great benefit in arousing needed attention to this subject. It has, in a considerable measure, resulted in the most intelligent people avoiding such foods and medicines as may be fairly suspected of containing the injurious ingredients complained of. Recognizing this fact some time ago, Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., "took time by the forelock," as it were, and published broadcast all the ingredients of which his popular medicines are composed. Thus he has completely forestalled all harping critics and all opposition that might otherwise be urged against his medicines, because they are now of known composition. Furthermore, from the formula printed on every bottle wrapper, it will be seen that these medicines contain no alcohol or other habit-forming drugs. Neither do they contain any narcotics or injurious agents, their ingredients being purely vegetable, extracted from the roots of medicinal plants found growing in the depths of our American forests and of well recognized curative virtues.

Instead of alcohol, which even in small portions long continued, as in obstinate cases of disease, becomes highly objectionable from its tendency to produce a craving for stimulants, Dr. Pierce employs chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine, which of itself is a valuable remedy in many cases of chronic diseases, being a superior demulcent, antiseptic, nutrient and supporting nutritive. It enhances the curative action of the Golden Seal root, Stone Root, Black Cherry bark and Bloodroot, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery," in all bronchial, throat and lung affections attended with severe coughs. As will be seen from the writings of the eminent Dr. J. C. Coe, of New York; Bartholow, of Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia; Scudder, of Cincinnati; Ellingwood, of Chicago; Hale, of Chicago, and others, who stand as leaders in their several schools of practice, the foregoing agents are the very best ingredients that Dr. Pierce could have chosen to make up his famous "Discovery" for the cure of not only bronchial, throat and lung affections, but also of chronic catarrh in all its various forms wherever located.

one night he took 2,500 eels, weighing from one-half to five pounds each, from this basket. This is only one of the many baskets in the river.

The eels are put in boxes alive and kept well into the winter and sold for 12 to 15 cents a pound, and find a ready market.

At the Pennington camp there are fully two tons of eels, a wriggling, writhing mass, in the boxes.

NEW MARSHAL

J. Wade Ament Succeeds L. P. Bennett and is Competent Young Man.

(Hensboro Messenger.)

J. W. Ament, of Livermore, has been appointed United States Deputy Marshal for this district and has already entered upon the discharge of his duties. He received his commission in Louisville Friday and at once started out on a swing around the district. Last night he arrived in Owensboro with Shad Lewis, of color, said to be one of the most noted bootleggers in the district. He was arrested in Henderson county, where he is said to have been operating for some time.

Mr. Ament is a young man. He has had no previous experience as a peace officer, but is confident of his ability to handle the job. He succeeds Loyal P. Bennett, who resigned to go West. Mr. Bennett, will leave in a few days for Oklahoma where he will probably go on the road as a traveling salesman. He made a good record during the time he served as deputy marshal.

Vast Water-Powers.

(Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore.)

To its coal supply, more than twice as great as the combined coal area of Great Britain, Germany and Pennsylvania; to its vast stores of oil and natural gas as supplementary sources of power, heat and light, the South adds at least 3,000,000 available horse-power and water-power for utilization for electrical transmission, also for power, heat and light. The development of this vast water power potentiality will eventually employ $250,000,000 to $3,000,000 and be equal in working capacity to 6,000,000 men. It will make possible construction of thousands of miles of interurban electric roads, it will furnish cheap power and light for mines and factories, and create, as in Switzerland the highest forms of skilled mechanical work in the mountains of the South, where climatic conditions are unsurpassed by any other section of the world. In counting the riches of the South always bear in mind its wealth of ever-running streams, where nature furnishes the power without price except for the cost of development.

EXIT STENOGRAPHER.

New Machine Typewriter and Telegraphophone.

It is Alleged That It Will Do the Work of the Pretty Office Girl.

Plans now under way will make it unnecessary for business men to depend upon private stenographers or typewriters. Central typewriting exchanges to which letters can be dictated over the telephone circuit and returned for signature in a few minutes, are to be established in large office buildings and hotels. Such a scheme has been made practical by means of the telegraphophone, which not only makes a perfect reproduction of the human voice, but also records everything that passes over the ordinary telephone. These records are stored upon a thin steel wire or disc and can be reproduced an indefinite number of times or removed when there is no further use for them.

Each of the central exchanges will have a number of telegraphophones and a staff of typewriter experts and trained linguists. When the business man or the guest in a large hotel wishes to dictate, he will pick up the receiver of his telephone and ask to be connected with a telegraphophone in the exchange. By means of a small switchboard he will have complete control of the machine to which he is dictating in the exchange. If it should be necessary to make any changes in the letter a push button is pressed, which brings a pair of magnets, stronger than those which made the record, into contact with the wire and any part or the whole letter is immediately wiped out. In the same way records of dictated letters are wiped out as soon as transcribed, so that the machine is always ready for use at any time.

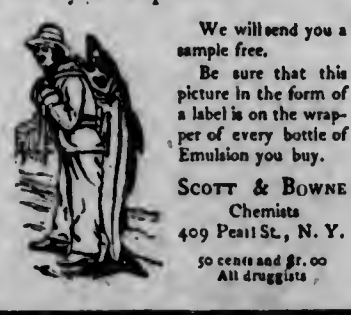

As soon as the dictation is finished the typewriter operator places the telegraphophone sounders to his ears and transcribes the records which have been made, returning the letters to the office from which they were dictated. The matter transcribed might be in English, French, German or any other language. It might be legal, scientific or technical, full of difficult words and phrases which would tax even the most highly educated and expert stenographer to take down in short-hand with accuracy. When the central typewriting exchanges are established, telegraphophones will enable busi-

Antiquity of the Word "Snow."

Ramesses II. died 4000 years ago, but some of the facts concerning his life are just becoming known. One of these is the story of his marriage, which has just been revealed by Prof. James H. Breasted, of the University of Chicago, in his first preliminary report of his expeditions among the temples along the Nile. He found the account of this event in the sun temple of Abu Simbel, which is one of the principal buildings erected by King Ramesses. To tell the story it required an inscription of forty-one lines, each about eight feet long. Prof. Breasted reports that the word for "snow" is found here in snowless Egypt for the first time in human history.

He Cursed His Gallantry.

A corpulent man with a red face went to Coney Island Sunday from the Bath Beach section of Brooklyn, says the New York Sun, and sat in a cross seat of an open car in front of two stout German women. In searching for a nickel to pay his fare, the stout man dropped a quarter, which rolled almost under the dress of one of the women. He realized that he might make a spectacle of himself and also might offend the woman if he attempted to pick up the quarter, so he decided to wait until she and her friend got out, meanwhile taking an occasional glance at the coin. The women found themselves at their station unexpectedly, and in their hurry to get out one knocked her handkerchief, which was weighted with something, on the back of the man's seat. A corner of the Handkerchief dropped, letting out a shower of jingling silver. The owner kneeled and began collecting the coin, while her friend urged her to hurry. The man gave a sigh of relief after the woman got up without having noticed his quarter. Just then, however, the other woman observed it, and said: "Katrina, you haf not all dot schange got. Look, dere was a kewarter." Katrina, with an effort, stooped and picked up the quarter, and she and her friend rushed from the car. The stout man, who saw the futility of protest, under the peculiar circumstances, cursed his gallantry and his ebony point.

Sam Jones Worth $250,000.

Rev. Sam J. Jones left an estate estimated to $250,000, consisting largely of valuable properties in Atlanta, Cartersville and other points. Those in a position to speak authoritatively say that for many years Mr Jones' income was from $35,000 to $40,000 a year from his evangelicel lecture work.

Of this great sum he annually gave away to charitable work more than two thirds of his earnings. His benefactions were so wide and varied that few but his own family knew of them. He rarely spoke of them and sought to keep them from the public.

His life insurance was fully $75,000 and this of course, will go to his estate. It is believed that his wife will administer his estate.

NEXT is the Christmas present question.

OPEN season, for the payment of fool bets.

DOES Lieutenant Perry want to be the Ice man?

CAP. NOEL GAINES' Crusader has ceased to crusade.

WHEN a Cuban cannot get an office, he becomes a revolutionist.

THE Republicans carried Pennsylvania, and the Democrats carried Texas.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL HAYS will be as a rose among the thorns, the rest of his term.

STILL, among many other things, Mr. Hearst may be thankful that it was no worse.

THE political boss who made the fewest predictions in this campaign, had to do the least explaining.

No one, as yet, has improved upon our suggestion of Judge W. H. Holt for the Republican nomination for Governor.

If the machine actually got robbed in Louisville, it will go down in history as one of the accomplished impossibles.

It is a delicate subject, but we are compelled to inform our subscribers that, as yet, no thanksgiving turkeys are in sight for either editor.

SEVERAL prominent citizens have spoken in the highest complimentary terms of the excellent manner in which we handled the election returns last week, for which we are very grateful.

THE voters of Hartford have spoken in no uncertain tones on the sewerage and street question, and we have the utmost confidence in our present Mayor and City Council, to carry out their wishes.

THE decision by the Court of Appeals upon the re-districting cases is expected in a few days. The court is expected to hold the act unconstitutional, which will necessitate a special session of the Legislature to make a fair apportionment of the counties into legislative districts. This expense to the tax-payers of Kentucky is not chargeable to the Republicans, remember.

THE Owensboro Messenger takes it to heart because John Langley, who once collected money for Caleb Powers, has been elected to Congress from Kentucky. Woodson will never rest in this life until all those who were ever friends of Taylor or Powers are consigned to oblivion. He would also be glad to see Beckham and a few other friends of Goebel go along with them.

THE Republican nominee for Governor must be a man who measures up to the job. It will not do to content ourselves with a selection as good as the Democrat. The one whom we shall invite dissatisfied Democrats to support should be better than the one offered them by their own party. If it is to be merely a choice between rotten apples, they will most likely select their own apple.

A PERFECTLY fair Democratic primary was held in Louisville, and yet the canvassing committee was compelled to throw out about 1,000 votes, because some precincts had voted several hundred more votes than there were Democrats and Republicans combined. Had it been a state or municipal election, only the Republican votes would have been thrown out. They would have been exceedingly irregular.

THE Hartford Herald has received its material necessary to change its form to an eight page paper. This is an improvement which THE REPUBLICAN, by its advance in journalism, felt called upon to make several years ago. We are glad to note that our contemporary, even in its slow way, in advancing. The local newspaper is a good barometer of the community in which it is published. A prosperous press generally indicates a growing, prosperous locality.

IN the race for United States Senator before the Democratic primary, it is claimed that Mr. McCreary carried a large majority of the legislative districts which elect Democratic members. As the race between Beckham and McCreary was merely to instruct Democratic members of the next legislature, it is claimed by the friends of McCreary that members, whose districts showed a majority for him, are instructed to vote for him in the caucus. This is an entirely new point, and is not without force. What right has the Republican district of Ohio county to dictate to the Democratic member from Daviess how he shall vote in that caucus one year hence?

IT is said that Congressman Richardson is responsible for the primary election being held on the general election day. He thought it would assist him in his race for reelection, but in this he was disappointed. It will not likely happen again. The Republicans are learning how to take advantage of it. While the Democrats, in many places, were scrapping over the races in the primary, they were sniping in the votes for their candidates for Congress. They also, doubtless, made use of the opportunity to swap in some localities. A primary election should not be held on the general election day, and we doubt if it is ever done in Kentucky again. Many Democrats are announcing themselves opposed to the custom.

THE Hartford Herald is unable to understand the purpose of our report of the Democratic primary, and jumps at the conclusion that we are not satisfied with the result of same. If the Herald is able to sit up and take notice, we wish to inform it that we had no choice or voice in the primary. But as a newspaper it was our inherent and unquestioned privilege, and our patrons expected us to report the primary as it was held, and the Herald's bombastic utterance, that the Democrats should have consulted THE Republican before casting their ballots, is one of its customary feeble efforts to waive a discussion of a notorious matter, such as the high-handed prostitution of the ballot, termed the Democratic primary.

SLIM CHANCE FOR DEMOCRACY.

With complete election returns from the entire country at hand, a careful study will reveal no particular grounds for congratulation upon the part of Democracy. In the "off year" elections, the party in power always loses ground. Often being swept from power, so far as the elections can go. No one expected but what the Republicans would this year fall below the tremendous majorities returned two years ago in the Roosevelt land-slide. The Democrats went into the campaign full of fight and making great claims. Upon Mr. Bryan's return he was greeted as the most popular living American. He was at once pressed into the Congressional campaign, and canvassed the country as though he was engaged in a Presidential campaign. He was greeted in the same old way by the cheering thousands. We confess it looked as though the country might adopt his views. Evidently the voters heard and cheered Mr. Bryan and then for the most part voted the Republican ticket. The result is to discredit Mr. Bryan's Presidential boom in advance, and the high hopes which Democracy was beginning to cherish, with him as their candidate, are giving away to deepest despair as the full effect of the election returns are manifested. The results show that with Bryan or with any other candidate for President, the Democrats cannot hope to capture a single State carried by Roosevelt, with the possible exception of Missouri, and the slim majority returned on the State ticket there, would make that State excellent fighting ground for the Republicans. So also would the result in Kentucky.

Nebraska, although canvassed thoroughly for days, by Mr. Bryan, remains safely Republican, with a Legislature largely so. In this "off year" the Republicans have succeeded in electing a House of Representatives with the same majority elected along with McKinley in 1896. That House was composed of 206 Republicans, 134 Democrats and 16 Populists or Independents. Thus giving the Republicans 56 over all. Exactly the same majority as they will have in the next House.

In the Senate, at that time, the vote stood 46 Republicans to 34 Democrats. The next Senate will be at least two-thirds Republican.

Something may happen to change the minds of the voters between now and 1908, to give the Democrats a show to start in the great Presidential race, but at present, in the light of recent election returns, theirs looks like a forlorn hope.

REPEATING SHOT GUN
NEW MODEL NO. 17

Here is the cheapest good gun yet made. By the omission of the take down feature we have been able to greatly reduce the cost of production and at the same time have kept the gun up to the famous high Marlin standard of strength, safety and durability. Notice the clean simplicity of this gun. The workmanship and finish are perfect. The weight is only 7 pounds. The full choke barrels are especially bored for smoothness as well as black powder and so chambered that 2 1/2 inch shells may be used. Several improvements in the operating parts make it the assured, most reliable and best working gun in existence. We are glad to make it possible for every lover of guns and bird shooting to get this high grade repeating shot gun at so low a price.

LUDICROUS LEGAL LORE.

A Legend of the Early Jurisprudence of Michigan.

The early history of the jurisprudence of Michigan, if faithfully chronicled, would furnish forth an entertainment abounding with the soul and point of humor. Many of these little legends yet float around the scenes which have given birth to them and serve sometimes to give zest to a bar dinner or to enliven a bar meeting. Among them is the following:

Judge B., a plain and worthy man, but no lawyer, was once county judge of Oakland under the old system. A case came on for trial before him on one occasion in which the action was founded in tort, and the plea of the defendant, which was special, was such as to give him the affirmative of the issue, upon the strength of which he claimed the right to open and close the case. This point was denied by the counsel for the plaintiff, "who never in the whole course of his practice had heard of such an enormity as the defendant's presuming to open the case." Authorities were brought and cited, however, and the judge, after mature consideration, determined that such was the defendant's right and so pronounced his decision. After a short pause, during which the plaintiff was grumbling his dissatisfaction, the court told the defendant's lawyer to go on.

"Your honor," said he, rising, "I am not quite ready to open the case. When I get ready I will let the other side know!" This opened, if not the case, at least the eyes and mouth of the other side, who sprang to his feet and bellowed forth denunciation upon the stupidity of the judge, whose absurd decision had placed him in such a dilemma. "You see, your honor, what you have done. You have actually placed the case in the hands of the defendant. He took possession of our oxen, and when we brought an action to recover them he took possession of that also." "I can't help it, sir," said the learned judge, with great sternness. "The decision is made, and it is too late to alter it. The law must take its course. You must withdraw your action and sue again."

"If he does, your honor," said the defendant's counsel, "I shall plead the pendency of this action in bar and beat him." "Then, Mr. —," said the judge, "I see no other way for you but to sit down quietly and wait till the defendant gets ready to try this case." The plaintiff took the judge's advice, but the "time appointed" has never elapsed, and he is waiting yet. — Philadelphia North American.

A Surprised Preacher.

When a clergyman in the course of his sermon asks a question he doesn't expect any one to answer it. At a watch night service at St. Paul's church, Brixton, England, the vicar was preaching a sermon on the prodigal son, in the course of which he said: "Last year some people came to watch night service from a neighboring public house, and some of them were drunk. Is there any one here like that to-night?"

"Yes," said a respectable looking man seated in the aisle; "I'm here, and I'm drunk."

The effect on the congregation was electrical. The preacher was startled for a moment, but after saying, "Poor fellow, poor fellow!" proceeded with his discourse.

"I tell you I'm drunk," said the intruder.

"Hold your tongue," said the vicar. "I am speaking now and must not be interrupted."

Many Languages of Buenos Ayres.

There are few cities in the world having more newspapers of varied tongues than Buenos Ayres. Altogether the number of dailies, weeklies, monthlies and irregulars published in the republic fluctuates about 180. Besides, of course, the "national" language, with its wide divergencies from Spanish, there are papers published in Castilian, in Catalan, in Italian, French, German and English, in Basque, in Norwegian and in Danish, in Arabic, Syrian, Hebraic, Servian and in several dialects, while in the Chubut territory the Welsh organ has a considerable sale and influence. — Buenos Ayres Herald.

"Long Ed's" Outfit.

When it was noised about Seymouth that "Long Ed" Ayres was going to marry Cora Black one of the summer residents thought to have some fun with him.

"Are you going to get married, Ed?"

"That's what Cora says."

"Well, I suppose you've made all the preparations—got your trousseau ready?"

"Long Ed" did not balk at the natural and, as was expected,

"Yep," he returned; "Aunt Lize the bond girl's Sunday coat and put a new collar on't, and I've had my shoes tapped."—Youth's Companion.

Quite a Difference.

"Mary," said a lady to her servant, "I strongly object to your copying Miss Lucy in your dress."

"In what way do I copy her?" asked the cook haughtily.

"Why, the hat you wore yesterday is, I notice, exactly like my daughter's new hat."

"Excuse me, miss, it isn't. The feather in my 'at is real ostrich, but Miss Lucy's is only imitation!" —London Telegraph.

A Fine Piece of Work.

"I tell you," exclaimed the young medical student, "our professor is an eminent surgeon."

"How's that?" asked his chum.

"Well, a fellow was brought in with a crushed leg. The professor said it must come off, but by some means or other he cut off the wrong leg."

"Do you call that a fine piece of surgery?"

"Wait a bit. The professor said it would be terrible for the poor fellow to go about with no legs at all, so he splinted up the crushed leg instead of cutting that off, too, and now it is as good as ever. An ordinary surgeon would have left the fellow legless. Wonderful skill, the professor's!" —Strand Magazine.

Not His Fault.

"James," asked the druggist sternly, "how did you come to lose that sale?"

"We didn't have what the lady wanted, sir."

"Why, you know we carry the most complete line of perfumery, knickknacks, stationery, toilet accessories and fancy articles in the city."

"Yes, sir, but it was medicine she wanted." —Great Falls Tribune.

INVALID HEROES.

Great Men Who Did Great Things In Spite of Infirmary.

A record of the magnificent courage of the world's invalid heroes is Sophia P. Shaler's book, "The Masters of Fate." One of these heroes was Green, the English historian, who could sign himself, "Faithfully (feebly, weakly, dizzily, mopeily, faintly, dreamily, dully), J. R. Green." Another was Robert Louis Stevenson, who wrote, "I am about knocked out of time now; a miserable, snuffling, shivering, fever-stricken, nightmare-ridden, knee-tottering, hoist-hoist-hoisting shadow and remains of a man." "But," continues Stevenson, "the medicine bottles on my chimney and the blood on my handkerchief are accidents. They do not color my view of life." It was an octogenarian United States senator who, when asked for rules for longevity, replied, "Acquire a chronic ailment in youth, and nurse yourself through life—and work." Kant furnishes a lesson of this kind. Although the great metaphysician was never entirely well, he performed a prodigious amount of intellectual work and lived to be eighty years of age. "He obtained such control over his discomfiture," writes Mrs. Shaler, "that when suffering from a pain in his head he could concentrate his mind so perfectly on a chosen subject that the pain was treated as if it did not exist. By sheer force of will he would also overcome sleeplessness, caused by rheumatic attacks. 'That these,' he says, 'were not imaginary pains was proved by the glowing redness which was seen the next morning on the toes of my left foot.'"

That pitiful account which Johnson gives of Pope's physical condition rests upon the authority of an old servant of Lord Oxford, who knew him after middle age. "He was then so weak as to stand in perpetual need of attendance. He was extremely sensitive to cold, so that he wore a kind of far doublet under a shirt of course, warm linen, with fine sleeves. When he arose he was invested in bodies made of stiff canvas, being scarcely able to hold himself erect till they were laced, and then he put on a flannel waistcoat. One side of his body was contracted. His legs were so slender that he enlarged their bulk with two pairs of stockings."

Great soldiers have borne afflictions they could neither overcome nor avoid. "Some of the world's foremost commanders—Julius Caesar, Napoleon, the Duke of Wellington and Archduke Charles of Austria—appear to have been epileptics. At the battle of Wagram the archduke, it is said, had a seizure which lasted about an hour. It was then that Napoleon gained the ascendancy. At the critical moment the fate of two great armies was in the hands of two epileptics. Cambray, the conqueror of Egypt; Alfred the Great and two of the greatest poets of Europe—Tasso and Byron—were subject to this disease, as was also the prophet Mohammed."

THE EARTH'S CRUST.

Its Rigidity Is About Equal to That of Granite.

Professor T. J. J. See, of the United States navy has investigated the rigidity of the earth by mathematical processes depending on the theory of gravitation. He found that, even if fluid, the globe would have a rigidity greater than that of wrought iron, owing to the tremendous weight. The earth's matter under this great pressure acts as a solid and so vibrates in an earthquake, and the average rigidity of the whole mass is nearly equal to that of nickel steel. Nickel steel is one of the strongest and hardest metals known. The globe is thus proved to be capable of withstanding enormous strain. Dr. See proves that the rigidity of the earth's crust is about equal to that of granite, which is one-sixth that of steel, and that toward the center the rigidity rapidly increases. At the earth's center the imprisoned matter is at an enormously high temperature, yet under the great pressure there at work it is kept three times more rigid than the nickel steel used in the armor of a battleship.

This method has been applied also to the other planets. It turns out that the rigidity of Venus is greater than that of platinum and probably about identical with that of wrought iron. The rigidity of Mars is about equal to that of gold, while the rigidity of Mercury, the moon and other satellites is about equal to that of glass. The average rigidity of the great planets—Jupiter, Saturn, Uranus and Neptune—lies between eighteen and three times that of nickel steel. The great rigidity of these bodies is due to the great pressure acting throughout such large masses.

In the case of the sun the result is still more extreme. The average rigidity of all the sun's layers is over 2,000 times that of nickel steel. This result shows the effect of gravity in compressing and hardening a mass even when it is self-luminous and at enormously high temperature. —Chicago News.

First Balloon Ascent.

The first public ascent by the Montgolfier balloon was made June 5, 1783. It was a spherical bag, consisting of pieces of linen buttoned together, suspended from cross poles. A fire was kindled under it, and the flames were fed with bundles of chopped straw. The loose bag filled out, assumed a graceful form and in a short time was completely distended. At a given signal the stays were slipped, and the balloon instantly ascended. Its velocity accelerated until it reached some height, then became uniform and carried it to an elevation of more than a mile. For ten minutes it remained suspended, then fell gently in a vineyard nearly two miles distant from the place of its ascension. The first adventurers to make an ascent in a balloon were M. Pilatre de Rozier and the Marquis d'Arlandes. In the basket of a balloon they on Nov. 21, 1783, rose to a height of about 3,000 feet.

The Domestic Problem.

"I once lost an Irish servant," remarked a German lady who was relating the trouble she had in keeping domestics, "because I could not convince her that 'mick' is a German name for a fly. One day my little baby daughter was seated in a chair near a window which opened on the piazza, where Bridget was at work. The window was closed, and a number of flies were busy bumping their heads against the panes in an endeavor to escape to the outside. They attracted baby's attention, who called out to me to look at them, at the same time saying, 'Mick, mick, mick.' Just then Bridget turned to speak to the baby and heard these words. And even today Bridget is firmly convinced that I instructed the baby to make fun of her." —New York Herald.

"Cannibalism."

The word "cannibalism" is really the name of a people. It is identical with Carib, many of the Caribs, who formerly flourished in the West Indies, having been consumers of human flesh. The letters "L," "n" and "r" are interchangeable in certain aboriginal American languages, so that Columbus found one West Indian island saying "Canib," where another said "Carib," while Shakespeare's Caliban is another variety of the same.

The Word "Impertinent."

Originally the word "impertinent" signified merely "not belonging to." When Wycliffe said that there were many men in this world who were "impertinent to earthly jords" he did not mean that they were "cheeky," but merely that they had no masters. Then, as used by Shakespeare, "impertinent" came to mean "irrelevant." Just 200 years ago it was defined as signifying "absurd, silly, idle."

THE FARMER, TOO.

Sells Abroad at a Lower Price Than at Home, and Nothing Is Said.

(Belington "Hawk-Eye.")

A vast amount of nonsense has been printed about American manufacturers selling their products cheaper abroad than at home. It probably has not occurred to superficial thinkers that it is just what the American farmer is doing when he exports his grain or other farm products. The same superficial way of thinking would impulsively point to Liverpool quotations as evidence to the contrary, because prices are higher on American cereals, for instance, in Liverpool than in Chicago. But the Liverpool quotation is not the farmer's price; he does not get it. The Liverpool price is the price paid the farmer, plus elevator charges, commissions and railway transportation to the sea coast, plus more elevator and switching charges, and the cost, ocean freightage and handling at Liverpool. All this work is not being done for nothing, and it costs money to land the grain 4,000 to 6,000 miles distant from the field where it was produced.

It is an accepted maxim that "the home market is the best market." It is the best market because it is the near-by market, free from all the expenses of long distance transportation.

The proof that it is the best and most profitable market is found in the fact that over nine-tenths of American cereals are sold in that market and a still larger percentage of other farm products. Is the American farmer going to sell his crops in the poorest market, at lower prices, if he can find a better market at higher prices? The question answers itself.

But he does sell a small fraction of the product of his rural factory in the poorer market abroad at lower prices than he gets for the bulk of his products at home. Why? because it is the surplus, beyond the requirements of the home market. So the farmer naturally reasons that the more this home market can be enlarged and have consumption increased by new manufacturing and commercial and other enterprises the better for him.

Meanwhile, he sells his surplus abroad at a discount, for he must get rid of all stock. And the Democratic platform and orators and press have never a word of condemnation of the American farmer for doing it. Which shows what mere partisan politics will do when reason and logic are on a vacation.

Get upon the right side of the bed.

Say good morning on the right side of your mouth.

Go open the window and breathe deeply twenty times.

Take a tepid or cold bath, sponge, tub, shower or creek.

Drink some water.

Work a little while.

Eat your breakfast.

Do just the best you can until 10 o'clock.

And then do just the best you can the rest of the day.

Be thankful for the good you have.

As for the rest, forget it.

Spider Chased a Man.

A story is told by an explorer, of a large and fierce South American spider, which chases men if they come too near its lurking place. On one occasion he was pursued by one. "Riding at an easy trot over the dry grass," he writes, "I observed a spider pursuing me, leaping swiftly along and keeping up with my beast. I aimed a blow with my whip and the point of the lash struck the ground close to it, when it instantly leaped upon and ran up the lash, and was actually within three or four inches of my hand when I flung the whip from me."

Studying Flowers With X-Ray.

The application of the X-rays to the study of phenomena invisible with our aid continually increase in number. Some of the results are curious rather than useful, but substantial additions to knowledge are being made in this way. One of the latest scientific uses found for the rays is in revealing the inner structure of flowers and fruit buds. In some respects this is a better method than dissecting for the study of certain parts of plant.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills act on both kidneys and liver, and as a result afford the quickest relief from those troubles resulting from an excess of uric acid. ### Artless People.

(The By-stander.)

A story is going the rounds of the clubs of a Chicago millionaire who ordered a replica of the Venus of Milo to be delivered at his home. When the case arrived and was opened the millionaire discovered there were no arms, and threatened to bring action against the railway company for damages. The company sent an official to inquire into the matter, found that the arms were missing—and paid.

A Duel that Was Never Fought.

(Hills-Democrat.)

Appropos of the duel between Gen. Andre and Gen. Negrier, Parisians are recalling the effective manner in which a statesman of long ago replied to the challenge of an illiterate bully. The statesman responded with the following letter:

"Dear Sir—You have called me out without any good reason. I have, therefore the choice of weapons. I choose the spelling book and you are a dead man."

The duel was never fought.

Deterioration of Cement.

The deterioration of neat cement when subject to oil is not of serious importance commercially since the material is never used by itself in practice. In the case of the three-to-one mixture, on the other hand experiments show that if concrete is allowed to set in water for some time before the application of oil no ill results need be feared.

Pearls Produced to Order.

The Chinese are said to have found a way to make the mussel produce pearls to order. Five or six small beads of mother-of-pearl strung on a string are dropped at a proper season in the mouth of the mussel. Two years later the mussel, when recovered, is made to disgorge the beads, now covered with a pearly crust indistinguishable from the naturally made pearl.

are caused by indigestion. If you eat a little too much, or if you are subject to attacks of indigestion, you have no doubt had shortness of breath, rapid heart beats, heartburn or palpitation of the heart.

Indigestion causes the stomach to expand—swell, and puff up against the heart. This crowds the heart and interferes with its action, and in the course of time the heart becomes diseased.

REPUBLICANS CAN WIN.

Newly Elected Congressman Predicts Defeat of Democrats in State.

The Louisville Herald Wednesday has the following on Republican chances in Kentucky, which should encourage the party:

Addison D. James, Congressman-elect from the Third district, was in Louisville yesterday, and was warmly congratulated by his friends on his splendid victory over Congressman James M. Richardson, in a district nominally Democratic. In the face of what seemed to be overwhelming odds, Dr. James aroused such hope and enthusiasm among the Republican voters that they won the polls on election day and gave him a safe majority over his Democratic opponent.

When he was nominated in convention at Bowling Green, Dr. James said that he would ask the people of his district to vote for him, so that he could go to Congress and support the policies of President Roosevelt and the Republican party. Roosevelt and prosperity were the issues made by Dr. James. In addition, Dr. James had a large following among the laboring element, his work in the Kentucky Legislature having shown him to be a friend of the toiler.

Speaking of the political situation in Kentucky, Dr. James said that he is confident that if the Republicans get together they will be able to elect a Governor and other State officials next year.

"We have four Republican Representatives in Congress already," said Dr. James, "and if we unite on a good, clean candidate for Governor we will sweep the State next November. The people are tired of machine rule, which is now the Democratic party, and if the Republicans will nominate a strong ticket we will win hands down."

"The Democratic machine at Frankfort has gouged the taxpayers and lapsed in endurance. New offices have been created for the benefit of the machine, and the taxpayers must foot the bill. The people are ready, and are looking for a change. They want no high taxation, and no machine rule. The Republican party is not short of men. We have a dozen or more in the State, any one of whom can carry the party to victory. What we need is to get together and present a solid front to the enemy. Let this be done and Kentucky is a part of the solid South—will be found in the Republican column."

at her home near here November 7, after a protracted illness of consumption, aged 26 years. She leaves a broken hearted mother, two brothers, three sisters and a host of friends and relatives to mourn her loss, but we feel that their loss is Cora's gain, as she had chosen the better part and died quite happy. She requested her loved ones to meet her in heaven and not grieve after her. Rev. G. H. Lawrence preached the funeral sermon, after which her body was laid to rest in the Equality cemetery the day after she died. The pall bearers were Messrs. Worth and Lewis Fulkerson, C. O. and S. E. Hunter, L. B. Overhuls and Jesse Smith. The large crowd of weeping friends and beautiful flowers placed on her grave were evidence of the love they had for her. She will be greatly missed.

The little three-year-old son of Mr. Wood Harper was buried at Equality, Saturday, November 10.

Luther Addington, who has a position as railroad carpenter on the L. C. road spent Saturday night and Sunday at his home near here.

Mrs. S. T. Hunter and son, Mr. Owen Hunter went to Central City Saturday.

Mrs. Mary Ann Tichenor and daughter, Miss Anna, went to Central City last Tuesday morning and Rockport Tuesday evening. They were the guests of her brother, Mr. Sutton Reid, Tuesday night.

John P. Rowe, Centertown, was at Smallhouse Saturday.

Messrs. Will Bennett and Kittinger, Godman, Ky., were at Smallhouse Saturday.

Dan Barnes, who has been confined at his home with erysipelas for about four weeks is able to be out on crutches.

Prof. W. C. Overhuls went to Matanzas last Sunday.

Prof. M. D. Maddox, Beaver Dam, and Berry Taylor, Hartford, spent Tuesday at Smallhouse.

Miss Nora Bennett, Matanzas, is the guest of Miss Debbie Taylor this week.

P. B. Taylor and family will leave later part of this week for their new home in Hartford. We regret very much to give them up.

Rev. G. H. Lawrence has rented a house and lot at Beaver Dam and will soon move to same. They will be missed by this community and we regret very much to give them up.

Misses Pauline Smith and Ethel Hunter, and Messrs. Ed Hunter and Jesse Smith attended church at Rockport Sunday night.

Mrs. Nora Overhuls and Mr. Jesse Smith went to Hartford Saturday and returned Sunday evening.

Mrs. Lula Ashby, husband and children are the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, for a few days.

HORSE RUNNING.

A Few Kindly Suggestions Concerning the Merits of the Law Prohibiting the Practice.

It might be of interest to some people to know that there is an ordinance in force in Hartford prohibiting riding or driving therein faster than an ordinary slow trot.

The ordinance was passed by the city council about three years ago, which has probably been long enough for most people to forget that such a law exists. The council certainly had some idea in view when it enacted the ordinance, otherwise it would not have been enacted. It was no doubt the belief of the members of the town's law-making body that such a law would lessen the danger of accidents to children, pedestrians and the traveling public generally, and that it would insure a citizen or a visitor against possible harm while passing or repassing the streets. They have no doubt given governmental affairs sufficient study to entitle their deductions to the consideration, which has, in most instances, been accorded. But there are a few exceptions and a citizen or visitor has to loiter on the square only a few minutes to see an upstart of a boy from 12 to 16 years old, galloping or running a horse through our main thoroughfare, with an air of self-importance that would almost "paralyze" a pedestrian in his tracks. A few apprehensions of those thoughtless boys would suffice. Their thinking apparatuses would be restored to their normal conditions and our citizens and little children would cease to be terrorized and harassed by these evil and unlawful practices.

BUNNIE TURNS TABLE.

Brackenridge County has Rabbit That Makes All Dogs in its Neighborhood Hide Out.

[Brackenridge County News]

A rabbit belonging to Mr. Ed Gregory has started a new order of things in its neighborhood and as a result the canine family thereabouts has been doing some "tall running with bunny at their heels."

The rabbit, which was sent here by some friends in the Appalachian mountains, has an aversion to dogs in a manner most unusual. It is larger than the ordinary rabbit, and whenever a dog comes near it, bunny hops upon him and begins to give him a severe licking, inflicting painful bites on the subject of its dislike. Usually the dog is so taken back at the turn of affairs that it beats a hasty retreat, and the small curs in the neighborhood have learned to take a sneak home through the back alley rather than risk a meeting with bunny.

In Memoriam.

There are few deaths which bring more sadness than that of Miss Lelia Daniel, who died November 7, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gum Daniel, aged 19 years, 6 months and 22 days. When the death angel came into that home and summoned the bright young spirit of dear Lelia to the beautiful beyond, the home jewel was taken. All that human hands could do was done to save the life of sweet Lelia, but the Lord knew best. Dear Lelia was loved by all, and her sad taking away is deeply mourned, not alone by her parents, brothers and sisters and relatives, but by those girls who were her friends. It was hard, so hard to
